Play modes There are two game modes, creative and survival in Minecraft Trial APK, players can choose which game mode you want to discover, but it is recommended to play the survival mode, and that is to survive what is expected at all costs. So you should try this game mode at least once or twice because it teaches them how they survive in the Minecraft world. There are many things you have to do to protect yourself in survival mode, including the search for water and food to relieve hunger and thirst, kill zombies, protect yourself from wild an underground house to build to escape the cold and cold and cold and cold. And soon winter. The players can differentiate between day and night in survival mode and use them to develop survival strategies depending on the time of day. Enemies There are many enemies in Minecraft APK, but if you want the right one, you have to get the original Minecraft game in which you will have too many enemies. Since this is a test version, it is understandable and it is good that players can choose the type of enemy you choose determines your approach and the defense you use. At night you will learn, for example, that you are more susceptible to zombie attacks in desert areas, but you can attack during the day. In addition, wolves attack at night instead of during the day when they are caught at night as they walk around their house, they will find construction buttons and four navigation buttons along the middle button in the lower left corner of the screen (for jumping your character). You can also select the most suitable viewing angle of the monitor for the best gaming experience and then pull it to any point on the screen. The construction areas in the lower row of the screen are used to create buildings in different areas. In this section, players have to choose one of three options: enemy buildings, building materials and this weapon. Everything you have to do to buildChoose the type of material used from the list of available materials and select the item you want to create before the end of the project. Weapons, of course, one of the best ways to protect against danger is access to weapons, and Minecraft APK players have various weapons, such as knives and shoulders. If you want something more destructive and dangerous, the game will show you how to create more sophisticated armor and weapons that you can use to defend. The only problem is that you can't get materials right away. You will have to remove some, such as bamboo and wood cultivation to collect crops.
