Quality change quality, including XP of war donations and the hero skin randomizer! I received this game in 2014 and deleted and downloaded it as I have time to play. I always loved it and I enjoyed going through all the new updates, from the introduction of clan wars to the last update of super troops. My favorite part of the game was the community you could find just entering global chat and talking. You could meet people from all over the world, compare bases, boast from your clan, or just get to know each other. Upgrades and troop training take a long time, so to pass that it's time, just hop from global since you could always find someone to talk. I just got back in the game after a year of long break, however, was surprised to see that they had removed the global chat. This was literally the greatest reasons why I played this game instead of other batteries. I really miss and I know that the vast majority of players also do. I know this saves money and work to get gone, but maybe they should consider having a paid version of the game that includes the global chat or even a BC signature I would literally pay to have it back again . In addition to this failure of a decision that gameplay is great, well balanced and fun. Every game looks like I'm playing a game of chess and getting three stars against a city hall above me makes me feel like an absolute legend lolr: love the game, plz brags global chat! The game is good and I have played for years, but I never paid a lot of attention to the builder's base until recently. I was so excited to finally get the battle machine and use it in my attacks until you get to realize the very bad target you have. I tried to use tapering strategies to try to get the battle machine to attack where I want it to be, but will choose to go to the most inurable buildings every time. I try to channel it to go directly to the Hall builder, all the other buildings are destroyed, the path is clear, but decides to go to the expense camp on the other side of the base. The most apparent problem that has is that it will direct the troops from the guard post, even if they are out of reach. If anything, regular troops such as bals and archers, should be the ones who drive them while the battle machine does the damage, but it is the contrary. Even if the guard troops are inside the base and the builder's room is right in front of the battle machine, it still goes to the troops and dies immediately because it is surrounded by literally every defense, and the attack only goes downhill from there. One similar thing happens to the Archer Queen, since it is a varied hero, but it is not so bad as the battle machine. It is very unusual for most of the time. If this could be fixed, the attacks would be much more successful. Good game, but it is really annoying when you update the spectration factory or updates the barracks that you can not use a troop until you have made it for me takes 4 days to update the barracks just to get miners and, unless I update a different one for the same level than I will not be able to use my baby dragons and with the factory of spells there is only once every time I update I do not I will be able to use the spells of that 2 walls are expensive way I a little rushed th11 but my defenses are still tall and my walls are just like 7andes because they are way of expensive just to add a 1000 life points but really really it does not matter, because there are tons of units like eDragons that can fly soon about them, I also heard Level 15 walls cost 5m how to get to walls are virtually useful already nobody would spend 5m of gold less that they are in th14 and maxed everything and have nothing to do I do not intend to maximize my walls always until I did the game 3 air sweepers are also more expensive as a good lazy, but a lot to update 4 upgrades in general they take for long I do not care to wait a few days, but some of them like th take a long to get to th12 until the golden pass takes 11 days and I mean that the own own does not do anything until 12 when receiving a tesla gig that also costs a lot to update to the developer, the Supercell, indicated that the privacy practices of the application may include data handling as described below .
