During Shmita, the land is fallow and all agricultural activities such as plowing, sowing, pruning and harvesting, prohibits halakha (Jewish law). Other cultivation techniques (such as irrigation, fertilization, weeding, spraying, trimming and cutting) can be performed only as a preventive measure, not to improve the growth of trees or other plants. In addition, all the fruits or herbs that grow wild and where no watch is kept on them are deemed hefker (masterless) and can be collected by anyone. [2] A variety of laws also apply to the sale, consumption and disposal of products Shmita. All debts, except those of foreigners, had to be put back. [3] Chapter 25 of the Book of Leviticus promises abundant harvests to those who keep the Shmita, and describes its observance as a religion test. There's little notice of compliance for this year in the biblical story, and seem to have been overlooked. [4] The following year is Shmita 2021-2022 (5782). Ancient Israel Ancient Near East fallow years is still debated among scholars of the ancient Near East even if no one else has clear evidence of a seven years in the texts of Ugarit. [5] It is also discussed how the Bible seventh year in Maggese would be in tune with, for example the Assyrian practice of a culture rotation cycle and four years, and if a year in seven [8] Biblical References One year of Saturday (Shmita) is mentioned several times in the Jewish Bible by name or from its six-year model of activity and one of rest: Exodus book: "You can plant your land for six years and Collecting its crops. But during the seventh year, you have to leave it alone and withdraw from it. The needy of you will be able to eat just like you do, and all that remained can be eaten by wild animals. This also applies For your vineyard and your olive grove. "(Exodus 23: 10 Å ¢ â,¬" 11 [9]) Book of Levitico: "God spoke to Moses at Monte Sinai, telling him to talk to the Israelites and tell them: When you come to the earth that I'm giving you, the land must be given a rest period, a Saturday to God. For six years you could plant your fields, prune your vineyards and collect your crops, but the seventh year is "A Saturday of God during which you cannot plant your fields, nor to prune your vineyards. Do not collect grapes on your unprocessed screws, as it is a year of rest for the earth. [What it grows while] the Earth. The rest can be eaten by you, from your male and female slaves, and from employees and resident hands living with you. All crops must be eaten by domestic and wild animals that are in your land. "(Leviticus 25: 1 - 7) [10]" And if you say: "What should we eat the seventh year? Here, we cannot sow, nor to get together in our increase", then I commanded my blessing about you in the sixth Year, and will realize produced for three years. And if he marked the eighth year and eat of the products, the old shop. "(Leviticus 25: 20 - 22) [10]" I will spread between the nations and kept the sword drawn against you. Your land will remain desolate, and your cities in ruins. Then, until the earth is desolated and you are in the land of your enemies, the land will enjoy its Saturday. The earth will appreciate the sabbatical rest that would not give it when you live there. "(Levitico 26: 33-35) [10] Book of Deuteronomy:" At the end of every seven years, you will celebrate the year of remission. The idea of the year of remission is that every creditor will put any debt due from his neighbor and brother for a debt, you have to reduce it .... "(Deuteronomy 15: 1 Ã ¢ â,¬" 6) [11] "Moses then gave them the following commandment:" At the end of every seven years, in a fixed time on the Sukkoth festival, after the year of release, when all Israel comes to introduce yourself before God your Lord, in the place that he will choose, you have to read this Torah first of all Israel, so that they will be able to hear it. 'You have to bring together people, men, women, children and studied from your settlements together, and let them hear it. He will do so he learns to be in sowing of God your Lord, carefully keeping all the words of this Torah. Their children, who don't make OW, will listen to and will learn to be in Awe of God your Lord, until you live in the land you are going through the Jordan to occupy ". "(Deuteronomy 31: 10 - 13) [12] Book from Jeremiah: so says the Lord, the God of Israel: I made an alliance with your fathers during the day I brought them out of the land of the Egypt, outside the house of Bondage, saying: "At the end of seven years he lets himself go to his brother who is a Hebrew, who sold you to you, and served you six years, you will leave him free from you"; But your fathers are not listened to not to me, nor tilted the â €
