We are simply seeking to bring into full realization the American dream -- a dream yet unfulfilled. A dream of equality of opportunity, of privilege and property widely distributed; a dream of a land where men no longer argue that the color of a man's skin determines the content of his character; the dream of a land where every man will respect the dignity and worth of human personality -- this is the dream. When it is realized, the jangling discords of our nation will be transformed into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood, and men everywhere will know that America is truly the land of the free and the home of the brave.

With the faith and determination will continue to work for a great America. With this faith we will go on to make out of it what it is not.

Francis Miller/Getty Rosa Park and Martin Luther King Jr., many years after Montgomery bus boycott. When Bettman/Getty Rosa Park was arrested for refusing to give up the city bus, Montgomery caused the bus to boycott and gave the king one of the first ways to give public speech. In this speech, he currently introduced some of his famous ideas:Expression. "Now let's go together and stick with this case until the end," King said in his speech. "Now it means victim, yes it means victims in glasses. But there are some things that we have accepted in the past." Bettmann/Getty Martin Luther King Jr. of Dartmouth College in 1962 is sometimes overlooked, but it's a fine example of the reverend's powerful rhetoric. But King turns the whole term upside down when he says he's happy to be a loser if it means subduing racism and a society built against him and his nation. "But I tell you, my friends when I come to my conclusion: there are some things in our country and in the world that pride themselves on being maladjusted and, as I hope good society does not understand," he says in his speech. "I am very sincere. I say I will never adapt to racial segregation and discrimination. "Martin Luther King Jr. received the Medal of Honor in 1964. In 1964, Getty was 35 years old in 1964 and became the youngest bearer of the Nobel Peace Prize. In honor of him, it was the year after his famous "I Have a Dream" speech and the country had just passed the 1964 Civil Rights Act. With this award, he received $54,600, which he donated to the movement. Here is a fragment of his acceptance speech: "I must ask why this prize will be awarded to a movement which has concealed and prescribed a ruthless struggle and a movement which has not yet won peace and brotherhood as the Nobel Prize" Said the king. "After some reflection, I come to the conclusion that this award, which I countered on behalf of this movement, is a profound recognition that violence is the answer to the most important political and moral questions of our time: the need human to overcome oppression and violence without using non-use to violence and oppression." At the end of his speech, he called the world "more precious than diamonds, silver or gold. 'gold ". Martin Luther King Jr. Speech at a Selma rally in 1965. Bettmann/Getty, 1965 March.,Luther King Jr. He marched from Selma to Montgomery in Alabama with 25,000 people to fight for the right to vote for African Americans. At the end of March, the priest spoke "Our God is going". King's speech began the struggle for economic equality instead of focusing on legal and political rights. "At the end of the King conversation, he used a call technique and a reaction that actually made an iconic conversation. "Long because no lie can live forever. How long has it not been? You throw what you have planted. How long has it not been? How long is it gone? Not long, because the moral universe is long, but it burns for justice," King said. Martin Luther King Jr. 1967. Bettman/Getty was attended by the Hungry Club Forum White Political in 1967, welcomed by African Americans, welcomed white politicians who were welcomed in 1967 by African Americans. African -Americans, white politicians who exist ... and we should know, we should know. In some positions cowardly "safe?" Match, "is it political?" He asks the question. Vanity, "popular?" But the conscience, "Is that true?" He asks the question. And there are times when you have to take advantage of an attitude that is neither safe nor politically or popular; but you have to do it because you have to do it. "One of them. King's last photographs maintained his last speech. Bettman/Getty was just talking about his last speech the day before the start of the attack: "I went into the cavity." To combine African -Americans and unify non-violent meaning. But the conversation is known as it seems that the strangest prophecy predicts his death for the next day, stressed that he accepted him. US. But now I don't care because I'm on the mountain. Like everyone else I want to live a long life, there is room for a long life but I'm not afraid ofNow that ... and I have seen the promised land. Maybe I won't get there with you. But I want you to know today that as a nation we will reach the promised land. 'He finished the speech and said: 'I'm happy today. I'm not worried I'm not afraid of a man. My eyes saw the glory of the Lord come. "History of news on lifestyle
