Back: When searching for remittances by other banking customers it is mandatory to mention the amount number of the fiction of 15 digits compulsorously. What is the difference between RTG and Neft? Neft is a system for transferring electronic funds that operates on a clear net basis (DNS) that solves batch transactions. In DNS, the settlement takes place with all the transactions received up to the particular interception time. These transactions are compensated (to be paid and credits) in Neft while in RTGS transactions are resolved individually. For example, currently, the fog works in lots of times - there are twelve settlements from 8:00 to 19:00. Any transaction started after a designated regulation time will have to wait until the next designated regulation time is contrary to this, in RTMS transactions are continually processed throughout RTGS activity. The RTGS transaction has done after the working hours will be rejected on RBI on the same day. However the Neft credit sent after the working hours will be resolved next to the fog. The RTGS system is mainly designed for transactions of great value. The minimum amount to be returned through RTGS is RS. 2 Lakh. There is no upper ceiling for RTGS transactions. There is no lower and upper limit of the higher value for the fog transaction.
