Please actualÁcenos if you replace or hear something from your retailer about whether this is a glitch or something on headphones cause confusion. Traci replied: 2:53 a.m., May 2, 2017 (five year ± os store Back) I just started having the same problem a few days ago. And I only had less than two months. John Walker replied: 2:04 pm, 20th May 2017 (5 years ago) Comença © to have the same problem two weeks ago, and much like Traci, I've just had mao a couple of months. Frustrating. Sofia replied: 10:52 pm, May 21, 2017 (five year ± os store Back) A working solution is to disconnect the charging plug as soon as it becomes blue, then reconnect. Keep doing this, and for 3-4 hours, they eventually will load again full. MAA empezÁ¹ to do after © s to take them a few weeks. James replied: 10:22 a.m., June 13, 2017 (five year ± os store Back) Find © the same problem with Mao. when loaded, it would indicate that HATH fully loaded but when you take it out, not illuminate. : It happened 4 months after © s I bought it. Caitlyn replied: 2:47 pm, September 27, 2017 (4 year ± os store Back) My headphones were just berthing no charge, ive the tenÁa for a little less than a year ± oy no light will light, I tested two different USB ports and plug-ins that leaves © thinking they were only lights for an hour or two, but when switched on, was about morirÁaime answered, 1:32 pm, 3 October 2017 (4 year ± 1 store Back) same problem here: I had my headphones for just a few months and suddenly no cobrarÁin. A solution for other headphones Skullcandy being discharged the driver and connecting to a computer, but does not seem to be a controller ink - and the computer will recognize the device not anyway. Frustrating that pondrÁan a product of such poor quality on the market. Karl 8:52 AM, October 20, 2017 (4 years old) Máo has the same problem. trouble. About 2 months of using them, suddenly stopped. I tried to recharge them through my PC, by my portable does not recognize the device regardless of what USB port plug it. Every time you unplug it, the battery dies quickly although it gives a blue LED indicating that it is loading. I think the only way to overcome this is to get an adapter for the cable that could fit into a wall stopper. I do not think there is no damage in the speakers. Anonymous responded: 1:33 AM, 7th November 2017 (4 years ago) The previous answer is unacceptable. You have a defective product and you know it is defective but still selling this product. I am having the same problem after having them for only two weeks. Anonymous responded: 2:29 pm, November 22, 2017 (4 years old) I'm in my second pair, I'm not sure why I bought them again. The same problem with both pairs, worked for a few weeks and then they will not charge. I thought maybe the first pair was sweating in them so I was concerned with my second pair. I do not mind. David responded: 4:27 am, November 25, 2017 (4 years old) The curly product had 3 pairs of rupture within 2 weeks without use for work outputs, it is clearly moisture causing problems. Izayah responded: 6:50 pm, 25th November 2017 (4 years ago) I have only had them for about 2 days and a half and is not on after charging for hours. Dan Schutter responded: 8:09 pm, January 2, 2018 (4 years old) I am having the same problem at first sight. Blue light is on but the handset will not turn on. So, what do you answer? send them back for reimbursement or what? Martin responded: 8:20 AM, February 1, 2018 (4 years old) two. Both stopped charging. The first lasted 6 months, the second lasted 6 weeks. How did you sucked me in a second pair? David responded: 8:45 am, February 1, 2018 (4 years old) I recovered them three times and I replaced me three times, it is obvious that they are not To face the exercise and the sweat was breaking them. Bizarro forSports headphones. I bought a pair of Fitbit headphones and okay, they were 3 times the price, but they are 10 times the product. Don't waste your time on Skullcandy.Zach replied: 1:48 PM, March 5, 2018 (4 years ago) Hello, my headphones will not charge the ones I have had for 2 months and, just yesterday, they just died and stopped charging. T Know who replied Dosteve: 1:45 PM, March 9, 2018 (4 years ago) the same. He bought two of these a year ago to use for a 5k. They were loaded and worked very well, but we washed them after about 8 months. I recharged my pair recently to start a new fitness program, but they stopped recharging after I used the charge. No lights to plug in, nothing. I went to my wife's partner and was able to give them another full load. But the next attempt to plug in is not recorded in the indicator light (however, the light is turned on at the beginning to show that there is still some battery left, although it is probably not much). No wonder these were being loaded off at my point of purchase with a steep discount. By no means, they could still be under the warranty of almost a year later. Answered: 12:14 AM, March 12, 2018 (4 years ago) The wireless headphones on my skull candy only lasted 6 months. I checked my charger and it's working fine. No lights turn on when I charge and no charge happens on All. Does anyone know if the company is standing behind their product and reimbursing us for a product that is defective and often fails? How can the company continue to sell this product when they should be aware of the fault in these headphones? Palak Shah replied: 5:44 AM, March 12, 2018 (4 years ago) The same problem with my headphones. When I came home, I tried to charge them and not light at all and no. He answered: 3:45 AM, March 28, 2018 (4 years ago) I bought Máo 2 weeks ago. He used it in the gym 4 times until no charge remained. They charged it until the blue light went on ... and now when he woke him up to use in the gym, he will not even light up. Every time I put it back on the USB to load, the blue light comes to say that it is loaded but when I try to connect it with the Bluetooth, it does not even respond. Jay responded: 11:03 pm, April 6, 2018 (4 years old) I went to the gym. - But I've thrown myself. Then he died about me. I have never come. I will not charge. I want a replacement or my money back. I did not even have these headphones a month. Arvinda Sudán responded: 5:35 am, April 19, 2018 (4 years ago) Hey, he had the same problem and worked when I hit the opposite side of volume control 2 times a bit gently on a table. Now his work well, as @vivien said. Thanks friend. AROE AJOENI responded: 10:40 am, April 24, 2018 (4 years old) The same problem here. I thought there was something wrong with the USB cable, he replaced it and the problem was the same. It turns out that I had to hit both sides a few times. It's OK now. AROE AJOENI responded: 07:06 pm, April 24, 2018 (4 years ago) Retry my previous comment, it worked for a while, the next charge did not work and I'm still looking for a solution. Raul responded: 9:23 pm, 27th June 2018 (3 years ago) I bought a set a month ago and I had the same problem this morning. This is what I did that allows me to charge them again. 1. Plug the Buds Oed in.2. While connecting, turn on the 3. Press the + and - volume buttons at the same time keep them until the light begins to flash red and blue .4. While still plugged into turning them out, the light should turn on and start uploading again. He / he was held for me, I hope it works for you! Good luck! Edgar responded: 5:56 pm, June 28, 2018 (3 years ago) The same for me too, I that there would be a solution! Kim answered: 7:08pm, 4th July 2018 (3 years ago) Copied from another website; this worked Me: When the headphones have been in use, occasionally, the headphones can develop an electrical failure where the LED indicator light and the internal electronics are established from the synchronization so that the light does not turn on as expected or remain illuminated after the light S to load or be ignited. This can occur when the products are disconnected from the energy for a period of time, the batteries have recently changed or a feed wave has occurred. Usually, some load cycles are needed (ie, with the headphones for a few hours and then load them) for the lights and internal electronics to synchronize. If you are experiencing this problem, simply use the headphones and load the headphones normally and the indicator light and the internal electronics will be put into synchronization and the problem will be resolved in itself. AJOENI responded: 4:22 pm, July 15, 2018 (3 years ago) Hello, I'm back with my ink headphones update. I could not fix it and the problems were bothering me. It turns out that there was still 1 year of guarantee and immediately replaced it. Pmerelen responded: 3:14 pm, July 23, 2018 (3 years ago) Hello. I am having the same problem and I bought the headphones about 6 weeks ago. This is my first time I charge it and once I did it off and I have not been able to recharge. Now you have spent two days in the charger and I have unplugged it and it has not been activated. I have tried all the possible problems as recommended on this page and nothing happened. I have sent an email to Skullcandy and I have not received an answer. Please help? Freddy responded: 8:06 pm, July 28, 2018 (3 years ago) If in the charger and its blue, press the power and button that elevates the volume at the same time, the blue will turn off. Unplug the charger then, reconnect it again and start uploading, this helps Eric A 3:18 AM, August 3, 2018 (3 years ago) I have the same problem. The mao will not charge at all, sometimes the blue light will light up, then it will turn off, unplug me and are dead. Dead Sometimes the red light will turn on, but it will also turn off after a minute. I left them carrying them thinking that maybe the light had broken or something, when I came back like literally 2-3 minutes later, they were hotter than the asphalt of Phoenix, Arizona. Literally burned to the touch. It was strange, I disconnected them thinking they were going to explode. Then I plugged them back and decided to leave them, when I came back about 20 minutes later the battery had been literally inflated. He had a bubble on both volume buttons, and on the central power button. No matter what to do, I still have a guarantee, so I'm going to send them back, hoping I can try to get my money back, the last thing I want is another couple of those defective pieces. How come Skullcandy hasn't been sued yet?! Joe answered: 11:32pm, 25th October 2018 (3 years ago) I had the same problem several times with my one-year product, so I discovered that procedure and it has worked for me, you can try it if you want, Connect the headphones to your power supply to try to load the headphones normally, that could be your USB port or direct current, in less than a minute you would see the blue light. Once the time has been completed, do not press any button yet, just connect it to the power supply as always, show the red light and let it load, after a2 hours (more or less) will work as normal. Ben responded: 1:11 AM, 20th April 2019 (3 years ago) I have seen 10 different ways of solving my problem and and A single work of one ... my headphones is not sensitive ... without lights or sounds ... nothing. I have tried to maintain power and lower the volume at the same time while it is plugged in and got red lights ... then nothing. That will not do anything at all to even try others Vaidés.j answered: 1:41, May 25, 2019 (3 years ago) I have e my Skullcandy headphones loading it on my truck. Only way to get it charged andy (admin) responded: 14:15, May 25, 2019 (3 years ago) J ValdÁ © s, is this possibly because of its normal charger to be bad or has tried several Chargers? ? If it is so, it is the specification of the loading out of your truck, you know Dan answered: 18:48, June 15, 2019 (2 years ago) Anyone who tries to use a different cable to load them ? I just fixed this for my mom using a different load cable. She plugged into my computer and did nothing, she changed to the cable for my Kindle and began to charge. Cheap cables with these electronic devices die alot,james Jewett responded: 14:38, June 21, 2019 (2 years ago) I had the Mia for about 7 months and the same edition started yesterday. I have tried different plugs, different cables, maintaining the power and volume pressed the button ..... nothing ... nothing. No lights, without load. ! Not happy Emma responded: 19:54, June 27, 2019 (2 years ago) Candy buds of the skull are not charging! Obviously, this is a constant problem. I would like an answer with a solution or a new set of outbreaks. This is not this and corrupt that the company knows about this problem and does not solve it,james responded: 11:59 am, June 28, 2019 (2 years ago) I send you through RMA to Trav © s of your website. I received an email that they were out of the action so that they gave me a credit price for the purchase price when they were new. Everything is done online and the credit is just good with Skullcandy, but that nothing .... I GUESS.TUSHAR MESTRY responded: 7:09 AM July 19, 2019 (2 years ago) Boys ... I was facing the same problem and when I tried after it began to work - Cargo charge Long hours: Forget the device or Bluetooth pairing: Add the device again and this will be connected, it works for SURS.JAMES responded: 12:52 AM, September 7, 2019 (2 years ago) I bought this Product once. The first couple I had, the left channel came after approximately one year. Now I am not a rookie when it comes to Skullcandy products. Usually, the failure I have is the left channel leaving. This seems to be a common problem in the whole board, However, I discovered the Skullcandy warranty. Then ... My first pair, fill the claim and I send them. A day after, I obtained electronic mail saying that they had received the defective product and will send a replacement. A few days later, my replacement entered the mail. Now I am in my fourth couple of headphones that literally opened today and I am enjoying. My last torque did the same thing where he did not charge. Skullcandy has a 2-year replacement guarantee that encourages everyone to take advantage of. Unless you are looking for your money, this is an excellent way to go and will only cost you the price of the shipment, which is usually approximately $ 5USD that I am willing to conquer. on.
